February 2026

“Come and See... and Return to the Lord”

February always feels like a season of holy turning.

We are still basking in the light of Epiphany, that season when God’s glory is revealed—not in fireworks or fanfare, but in quiet moments of recognition. A voice says, “Look.” A heart responds, “Come and see.” Throughout our Epiphany worship, we have been reminded that faith often begins not with having all the answers, but with the courage to notice where God is already at work and to take the next faithful step.

Epiphany teaches us that Christ is revealed in ordinary places: along the riverbank, in shared meals, in simple acts of compassion, and in the questions we dare to ask. The light of Christ shines not just for a moment, but to guide our daily lives—calling us to deeper trust, wider love, and faithful witness.

And then, almost quietly, Lent arrives.

This year, Ash Wednesday falls on February 18, marking the beginning of a season that invites us to slow down, reflect, and return. The ashes remind us of both our fragility and our hope: “You are dust, and to dust you shall return.” These words are not meant to shame us, but to free us—to tell the truth about who we are and whose we are.

There is a gentle connection between Epiphany and Lent. Epiphany asks us to see Jesus more clearly. Lent asks us to follow Him more honestly. One season reveals; the other refines.

Together, they shape us into people who live with humility, grace, and purpose.

As we move through February, I invite you to hold both seasons together:

- ☐ To keep your eyes open for signs of God’s light in unexpected places.
- ☐ To make space for prayer, repentance, and renewal.
- ☐ To let go of what distracts us from loving God and neighbor more fully.

No matter where you are on your faith journey—curious, confident, weary, or searching—this season is for you. God is still revealing Himself. God is still inviting us to return. And God is still doing something new among us.

Grace and peace to you in this season of light and reflection.

In Christ,
Pastor Jim
